

Mr. Lucas has been a classroom teacher since 2010, striving to be as much a student as he is a teacher, endlessly reflecting, day after day, on ways to better himself, encourage his peers, and most importantly, partner with families in the service of children. From 2010-2013, he worked as a fourth-grade teacher at one of the largest Title I elementary schools in Palm Beach County before moving back to Central Florida in 2013 and building three separate coding and design courses at Milwee Middle School over six years. In search of continuing innovation, he joined Galileo in 2019, teaching fifth grade math until May 2023. He now teaches 6th Grade ELA and Social Studies (PEAKS) as well as Middle School Creative Writing and Journalism.

To support his love of education, Mr. Lucas has not only served as an adjunct research librarian with the University of Central Florida for ten years (2013-2023), holding a Master's in Library Science from Florida State University, but has published seven different books, including three Prairie Home children's novels for Grades 4-8. He consistently buys more books than he can keep up with reading, most notably, a growing collection of more than 200 presidential memoirs, biographies, and rare papers. Mr. Lucas owns a home in Lake Mary with his loving wife of twenty years, a CPA with Verizon.
